first half." In the second half, the Wrens got a strong scoring output from sophomore guard Hailey Tauzell, who finished the night as the leading scorer with 17 points and was the only Wrenshall player in double-digit scoring.

"Tauzell did some cleanup on the offensive boards and found ways to score inside," said Nelson. "She had a few opportunities to drive to the hoop and she hit a three at the buzzer. She played an all-around good game for us."

April Lattu scored nine points on the night for Wrenshall, while Jordyn Seehus and Taylor Bryce each recorded five. Hannah Lattu had four points and Alexis Perry finished with two.

"I thought our team defense took a positive step in the right direction and started really working together," said Nelson. "Offensively, April Lattu hit three 3s, which was great to see. She is a senior and a captain and doesn't get a whole lot of playing time, but she never complains at all. She keeps a positive attitude and truly loves the game."

Leading the scoring charge for Carlton were Kaylee Asleson, Abby Mickle and Jordan Hyry, who all scored 10 points in the game. Both Brynne Mickle and Sam Mattarelli finished with six points; Elizabeth Hey added five points. Alaina Bennett chipped in with four points, and both Nicole Nilsen and Isabella Anderson added three points each. "We have to make sure we have the whole team going," Beireis saod. "We do not have one player that we can rely on to get us 25 points a night, so we need the entire team to contribute. The girls understand this and move the ball around effectively and look for each other."

The win not only kept the "jug" in Carlton, but also saw the Bulldogs improve their record to 10-5 on the season.

"I'm pretty happy with our current record," Beireis said. "We still have things we need to work on, but I am very proud of the girls for their effort so far this year. They have been coming in every day and are working hard."

The loss drops the Wrens to 1-13 on the season but, as Nelson says, the effort is there from the

"I was proud of the girls not quitting," said Nelson. "I commend them for finding their competitive streak and for starting to believe in themselves as a team. It isn't easy when we come into games and get beat each night. Finding the good they can build on is so important, and letting them know that I have faith in them and that they can be better each day."

Up next for Wrenshall will be a Friday night road game in Two Harbors while the Bulldogs play Thursday in Barnum.

Heavy coverage from Carlton's Kaylee Asleson (1) makes bringing the ball out of the zone a difficult task for Wrenshall's Jordyn Seehus (20) and the Wrens during Monday night's matchup in Carl-

Kids invited to learn about lacrosse

Pine Knot News staff

Local lacrosse enthusiasts are holding events this weekend to encourage children ages 5 to 14 and their parents to learn more about the sport and to support the new local lacrosse club, "Northern Siege."

On Saturday, a clinic is being held for those children who may be interested in lacrosse but have little experience with the sport. "Learn to LAX" will be held Saturday, Jan. 19 at the Fond du Lac Tribal Center on Big Lake Road from 11 a.m. to 4:40 p.m. The club will supply all the equipment necessary, so players just need to show up and not worry about bringing balls, sticks, or other

"Lacrosse is a great sport. I was hooked immediately, and so were my kids," said Sean Hall, the new Northern Siege president. "I've been active the past few years with the Arrowhead Titans, and as interest in lacrosse grew so rapidly each year, it became pretty obvious that we needed our own local club," he said.

And a fundraiser will be held that evening starting at 6 p.m., at Eskomo Pizza Pies in Esko, where team leaders have been meeting as they plan the upcoming summer season. The fundraiser features a pizza buffet and a silent auction, and plenty of talk about lacrosse. Team leaders hope for a large turnout from families interested in the sport. Players will also be able to register for summer leagues, starting this Saturday at the fundraiser.

Hall said that there were 25 players the first year, and by the fourth year more than 250 kids were participating. With increased interest from Carlton County players, Hall knew it was time to start a local club, and the Siege was born.

"We expect quite a few players to sign up this weekend," he said. "There's already 80 or so U-8 through U-14 players coming over from the Titans, so our new club should be competitive. We have enough coaches, but we can always use more parents' participation," he

Team leaders see a local club as a good chance to keep games local.

"We'll play the various Arrowhead Titans teams, which will keep games local," Hall said. "We won't have to drive to Blaine anymore to find teams to play," he said.
