Improving grazing lands through SFA program Tri-county corn and

By Sheila B eRGReN Staff Writer sheila.bergren@apgecm.com

When spring arrives in Minnesota, it isn't unusual for farmers to turn their cattle out to pasture. Several months later when fall approaches, farmers pull the cattle back. In an effort to help farmers improve existing grazing lands and expand new, the Sustainable Farming Association (SFA), in partnership with the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation, is offering its Technical Assistance for Grazing program at no cost to farmers.

"The program is designed to offer one-on-one boots on the ground training to farmers wanting to begin, improve upon or expand their grazing enterprise," said SFA Soil Health Lead Jared Luhman.

The program is offered to farmers in Becker, Benton, Cass, Clay, Clearwater, Crow Wing, Hubbard, Kittson, Mahnomen, Marshall, situation may be. Morrison, Normal, Ottertail, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake, Roseau, Stearns, Todd farm to pick and choose the cattle to be and then roll and Wadena counties.

AltEn: The mess gets even messier

On March 1, Nebraska's attorney general threw the book at AltEn, alleging the 24-million-gallon per year ethanol maker near Mead spent most of the last five years making an environmental mess of its biofuels plant and the surrounding rural community.

The regular monthly meeting of the Darling Thunderbirds was held March 16, at the Bingo Park in Randall. A snack was provided by the Meyer fam-

Roll call was answered by your favorite sport. The January 2021 minutes were reviewed. The treasurer's report was reviewed. It was approved to do a project each month for the Eagle Court residents and the Amazing Day residents in Randall. The family who hosts the meeting will decide the project for the month.

It was approved to donate funds to the local food shelf. The details of the fruit sales were discussed.

The next meeting is scheduled for April 20, at the Randall Fire Hall. -Reporters: Anella and Adelyn Sahr
