Just about the only thing that could stop the New York Mills offense on Friday night was halftime.

The Eagles scored a touchdown on five of their opening six possessions of the game. The lone time they didn't score came after an interception gave the Eagles the ball with just seconds remaining in the second quarter. The end result was a 32-0 win over the Breckenridge Cowboys and NY Mills' first state tournament berth since 2006.

"We played a very good game on Friday night," said head coach Matt Radniecki. "I was very proud of the defensive and offensive effort. We really played an all around great game. The kids were focused and came ready to play."

In a game of ball possession, NY Mills dominated Breckenridge in the opening half of the game. The Eagles marched their opening drive of the game right down the field, before Bren Salo capped off the drive with a 1-yard run to put NY Mills up 6-0.

Breckenridge had its opening drive stall deep in the Eagles territory, before Salo scored his second touchdown of the game to put NY Mills up 12-0 in the second quarter.

NY Mills dominated the time of possession in the first half as the Cowboys didn't get the ball for the second time until there was just 4 minutes left in the first half. That drive quickly stalled and the Eagles scored on a 46-yard pass from Salo to Jonah Johnson to give NY Mills a dominant 18-0 lead going into halftime.

Radniecki said the Eagles offensive and defensive lines controlled the line of scrimmage and helped to open holes for NY Mills' running backs throughout the game. "Our offensive and defensive lines controlled the line of scrimmage and our backs did a nice job of running and blocking for each other," said Radniecki.

It was more of the same in the second half for NY Mills as Salo scored his third
