Planning for the future at Henning Public School

School district to host two community listening sessions on February 28

By Chad Koenen

Do you have an idea of something that is needed at Henning School? Perhaps you think the school could use another small gym, an auditorium, bigger classrooms, a new entrance to the gym or even a tribute to your favorite teacher near the entrance of the school. Regardless of the idea, the Henning School District and school board members want to hear from you.

The Henning School District is engaging in two listening sessions for the general public on Monday, Feb. 28 to gather input from the public about what it would like to see at the school for the next generation of Hornets.

A virtual listening session will be held at 12 p.m. on Feb. 28 and another one will be held in the school gym later that night at 5:30 p.m. Anyone can attend the meetings, even if a person does not live in the school district or have a child who attends the school.

Severson honored at regional AAA Award luncheon

Henning High School senior Emma Severson was one of several local students who were honored at the Region 6A AAA Award luncheon on Feb. 2. Severson was selected as the Subsection 22 female AAA Award winner. She is the daughter of Eric and Amy Severson of Henning. The awards luncheon was held at Thumper Pond in Ottertail. Sub-Section winners were awarded MSHSL medals by the activities directors of their school. The award recognizes and honors high school seniors who have excelled in the classroom, on the athletic field and in a fine arts activity. Severson was asked to answer the question of what has your involvement in MSHSL activities meant to you? Severson's answer was "My involvement in MSHSL activities has meant so much to me. MSHSL has taught me to keep my academics first and to perform well in my athletics and arts. Involvement in various activities has given me leadership opportunities in the classroom, on the athletic court, and on the performing stage. I am thankful for the support of my parents, the teachers and coaches at HHS as well as the overwhelming community support that have shaped me into the person I am today." Right: Severson is pictured with Henning School Principal Thomas Williams and activities director Randy Msegades.

was the lone person to cast a vote in dissent to accept their resignation. The resignations bring the current utility worker staffing from four full-time employees to just two.

Following the acceptance of Markuson's and Arndt's resignations, the council approved advertising to hire a full-time utility supervisor to replace Markuson.

Councilwoman Tammy Fosse also made a motion to immediately hire a fourth employee to replace Arndt. The motion was seconded by Haberer.

However, city attorney Tom Jacobson questioned if Fosse could participate in the meeting since she was attending the meeting via Zoom and was not in person.

Since there was no longer a state of emergency covering the City of Henning, Jacobson read through portions of the open meeting law that would allow a council member to participate in a meeting remotely. He said it did not appear Fosse met some of those requirements. As a result, Fosse dropped her motion.

Haberer then made a motion to immediately hire a fourth utility worker, which died for a lack of a second.

While several people in attendance expressed a desire to speak during the meeting, the council did not accept public comment last Monday since the meeting was a special one. That follows past practice for the city council in which public comment was not typically accepted at special meetings and only occurs during regularly scheduled meetings.

Traffic injuries reported near Battle Lake

Law enforcement offers safety tips for winter driving in Otter Tail County

By Tom Hintgen
Otter Tail County Correspondent

An indeterminate number of traffic injuries took place Jan. 30 southwest of Battle Lake, near the intersection of State Highway 210 and County Highway 47. The accident took place at 4:21 p.m.

Winter roadway driver safety tips

Sheriff deputies, in coordination with the State Highway Patrol, recommend that drivers follow these safety recommendations.

- Don't drive distracted

- Stay alert for snowplows which turn or exit frequently. These units may, at times, travel over center lines in order to improve road conditions.

Plenty of cheers during annual Snow Week

 Henning Snow Week featured a number of activities last week at Henning School. In addition to activity day in which high school students could participate in an activity like bowling or ice fishing, the students held pepfests, a broom ball tournament and dodgeball. Catalytic theft near Pelican Rapids

Sheriff deputies, on Jan. 31, reported the theft of a catalytic converter and exhaust system in rural Pelican Rapids. The theft was close to Highway 59. Deputies said a likely suspect is a person who was seen on a snowmobile with ripsaw track (snowmobile track features).

The estimated value loss was close to $1,000. Authorities said the investigation was continuing as of Feb. 1.

Vehicle broken into, items stolen

Sheriff deputies reported a vehicle break-in Feb. 3 near Perham, close to Highway 80. A list of missing items from the business vehicle was being compiled the following day.

"The front driver's side window was broken out," said a sheriff deputy. "We believe the break-in took place late in the evening on Feb. 2."

Icy roads across Minnesota on Feb. 4

The State Highway Patrol, on Feb. 4, reported snowfall

in the morning hours across most of Minnesota, making for some icy roads.

Minnesota State Patrol officers reported 147 crashes statewide between the hours of 7 a.m. to 11 a.m.

Twenty-five of those crashes injured drivers, none of which were serious or fatal. Additionally, 42 vehicles spun out or were off the road, and one semi jack-knifed.

COMMUNITY INPUT SOUGHT

The idea for the listening sessions and seeking community input came after the school district received additional ESSERS III money due to the COVID-19 pandemic. As part of the grant money, the district could complete a variety of projects that could create a more safe learning experience at the school. Among the items the money could be used for includes indoor air quality projects, like replacing the aging HVAC system at Henning School.

Rather than just jump into replacing the HVAC system, for example, the school board opted to take a big picture approach at the school and see what other projects are needed, both now and in the future. That way the district could make sure it is getting its best bang for its buck, rather than completing a project now, only to have to replace what was already done down the road when a bigger project came about.

"Throughout each listening session, our goal remains the same—to gather as much information as possible from our district residents to develop a plan that will best meet the needs of our students, staff and communities."

sible from our district residents to develop a plan that will best meet the needs of our students, staff and communities," said Sparks in a letter to district residents.

The listening sessions, which will also include separate sessions for staff members and non-profit organizations, will give the school district and representatives from ICS the opportunity to gage what is needed and could help the student experience at the school.

In addition to the community, staff members and non-profit organization listening sessions, Sparks is also giving current students a chance to weigh in on what they would like to see at the school. Sparks said she is looking for a group of students to get involved in the listening sessions, in order to give the school district a wide variety of opinions for the next generation of Henning Hornets.

"I want a really diverse group of students. I want to give every student an opportunity to say I want to be involved," said Sparks.

Sparks said ICS representatives have already toured the Henning School to identify potential upgrades and repairs that will be needed in the future. They looked at everything from tuck pointing to HVAC needs and even potentially replacing the high school gym floor. In order to get input on what the community would like to see in its school building, the listening sessions are being organized on Feb. 28.

For more information on how to attend the Zoom listening session, or those who do not have access to a computer or internet and would like to attend the noon meeting, can contact the school at (218) 583-2927. More information can also be found on the school website at www.henning.k12.mn.us or on the district's Facebook page.

second was Mike Murphy with 26 votes.

Five other GOP candidates received a combined 69 votes.

Over at the DFL caucus, on the campus of M State, Fergus Falls, Democrats expressed support and confidence in Tim Walz as he seeks reelection as the governor of Minnesota, to a new four-year term.

GOPers gave their wholehearted support to first-term State Rep. Jordan Rasmusson of Fergus Falls who this year will run for the State Senate following the announced retirement of Bill Ingebrigtsen, Alexan-

Rasmusson won his first state legislative race in 2020. He helped pass legislation, on a bipartisan basis, for mental health initiatives. He also led efforts to reopen Otter Tail County's driver license exam center in Fergus Falls after months of the pandemic.

Minnesota is currently revising state legislative district maps for both the State House and State Senate following the 2020 census. Minnesota retained its eight Congressional seats following the census.

Caucus gatherers on Feb.

1 also addressed issues of concern in Otter Tail County and the state in general.

GOPers cited issues such as tax reform, making more efforts to reduce crime, seeking changes to education in Minnesota, protection of religious freedom and making state government, in their words, "smaller and better."

Among the DFL issues addressed at the Feb. 1 caucuses were new efforts to fight covid-19, public safety reforms, combating climate change, education assistance and making further investments in state infrastructure.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Reflecting on past memories from small-town life

To the Editor,
I'd like to reflect and comment on the roots we plant as small-town people. Our community has brought memories that are incomparable and sometimes even out of reach for those who opt for a different lifestyle.

I have always held close to my heart the many people who have left footprints in our community. I miss the most the things and people we take for granted until they are no longer a part of our day-to-day life. I still miss the irreplaceable smile and wave that came along with the purr of Junior Blumpke's lawnmower. I miss people who made a difference such as Hub Norgren who was there as my small-town bus driver on the first day of school and who was there to see me off on my last. I can still hear the playlists that were continuously played from the Bowling Alley jukebox, I can smell Big Bopper's fresh popped popcorn and I can feel the excitement that came from winning a pinball game at the Dairy Bar. I remember a town with filled storefronts, full store shelves, eager volunteers, and a community who shared a genuine concern for what our town was and how it was regarded by residents and outsiders alike.

Lately, I'm starting to wonder if that's just how I remember it and not how it was. Perhaps the pressure and tension of adult life hadn't quite hit me yet before I left Henning—maybe I was still a naive, young person who just loved her town.

Unfortunately, because I left I didn't get to know or even meet the young people who our community has lost in the last two decades. I was states away when the community rallied for a little boy who fought and beat cancer. I missed a lot, but, as small-town people do, I followed along with these stories.

From afar, I mourned losses and celebrated wins along with you. There is no denying that our little town never wavers when one of our own is in need. I've experienced it first-hand and it is a feeling of compassion unlike any other.

What I can't do though, is compare the same considerations for courageous victories and tragic losses to what our town is facing now. There is a vast contrast between the two things. Irresponsible actions made by our elected officials is not relative, in any way, to supporting a grieving family or cheering on a team who is mourning their friend. It Is Wrong.

If we want the sea of orange and the sold-out benefits, if we want the same outcome, we need to show up. It was together we supported. It was together we showed up. Together, no matter how different our views were.

Hope Sapp (Weinhandl),
Henning

Henning should be proud of its students

To the Editor,
On Feb. 2 the senior high students and the 6-8 grade students went to Wadena for bowling, a movie and a noon meal. The Henning community should be proud of all of the students that attend the Henning School. When the kids got on the buses they were polite, courteous, respectful and well behaved. I was one of four bus drivers and I think we were all impressed with our students. PS we need bus drivers, it is a great job because we have great kids.

Supper is a sure thing at least

Last week, you got the news about someone new in my life, someone that, in the local community, has me and her together in what is to me a new group description: Item. As in: We're now An Item. "Are you and he an item?" (Fortunately for me The Item answered yes.)

The Prairie Spy
Alan "Lindy" Linda

Questions to her came to her from where she at the time was working. They came in some variation of this form: "Well, are you and he now an item?" Kind of refreshing, actually, when voiced in that form. Nothing positive; nothing negative. No way you can attach a valence to the word "item."

But now. Now there has to be some way in which to refer to her. Obviously. One cannot just begin calling her Item, as in: "Hey, Item, let's go to town." or more likely: "The Item and I went to town." My appliances have names. And my tractors. She needs one.

Finding a proper-yet-vague way of referring to her leads down the road to some other observations. Why do battleships and boats all get names? We can't choose a name from something used on a battleship, because they're all named mostly after states: The Missouri; The Wisconsin; The Wyoming; etc. It wouldn't do at all to say that The Minnesota and I went to town yesterday, now would it.

Maybe then a name from a smaller boat list. Let's see. An immediate review on the Internet of some boat names produced some doozies. Here are just a few. Unsinkable. Liquid Asset. She Hates Me. Midlife Crisis. Full of Ship. Sick Day. Tax Refund. Unsinkable II. (Think about that one for a bit.) In a Meeting. And finally: She Got the House.

Well, none of those really work very well. So She and I got to brainstorming. I came up with the possibility of referring to her as Last Chance. Hmmm. Kind of putting a bit of unseemly pressure on her. (And me.) Then the name The One popped up. The One and I went to town. Well, it's on the list.

Another name that has a lot of promise is The Big Door Prize. I really like that one.

The Big Door Prize and I went shopping. If that works, then maybe just Door Prize would also work. That's on the list, for sure.

Hey, Sure Thing, let's go to town. Hmmm. That almost seems boat-ish, so it goes to the end of the list. How about something like a name used for a candy bar, like: Hey, Good Enough, let's..... Or, hey, Payday. No. They won't work at all.

I kind of like naming her for something in how we're getting together at this late-ish point in our lives: Deep End. Yes, it kind of feels to both of us as we discover how many things we have in common that we're plunging off the deep end. Hmmm. Deep End and I are going off the deep end. Only problem with that one is that it lacks any remote connection with romance.

I kind of like Rainbow. She's quite colorful, being an artist. And although the word rainbow has some connections to current states of sexuality, that's all pretty much lost on my generation.

Well, Rainbow is cooking up her special Deep End pancakes, could be they are The Big Door Prize. Supper is a Sure Thing, at least.

Tips for staying safe when a vehicle breaks down

Question: Sometimes while I am traveling I've noticed a set of reflective triangles out behind a semi? Can I use those on my personal passenger car if it were to break down? Any advice is appreciated.

Answer: The best thing to do is make sure your vehicle is off the traveled portion of the highway and onto the shoulder. Then turn on your emergency flashers (hazard lights) so your vehicle is more visible to other motorists.

If you can safely display some type of emergency equipment, remember your personal safety. Other motorists might not be able to see you, so pay attention. High visibility reflective gear would be beneficial. If the roads are slippery and visibility is limited, it's a very dangerous situation to be outside your vehicle.

If you drive a commercial vehicle, you're required to carry three emergency

Ask a Trooper
Sgt. Jesse Grabow

triangles and place them in three locations during a stop. Emergency triangles must be placed within 10 minutes of stopping and should be kept in the passenger side box so they can be safely accessed and keep the driver away from traffic. Triangle placement locations may vary based on where the driver stopped. They are spaced out to ensure that other motorists can see the truck from a distance and change lanes or slow down.

Two Lane (traffic in both directions and undivided highways)

1. One triangle 100 ft. in front of the vehicle, centered in the lane the vehicle occupies.
2. One triangle 10 ft. behind the vehicle on the traffic side of the vehicle.
3. One triangle 100 ft. behind the vehicle in the center of the lane the vehicle occupies.

Divided Highways and One-Way Roads

1. One triangle 10 ft. behind the vehicle on the traffic side of the vehicle.
2. One triangle 100 ft. behind the vehicle in the center of the lane the vehicle occupies.
3. One triangle 200 ft. behind the vehicle in the center of the lane the vehicle occupies.

Obstructed View (hills and curves)

1. If stopped on a two-lane road, place one triangle at least 100 ft. ahead of the vehicle.

2. One triangle should be placed 10 ft. behind the vehicle on the traffic side of the vehicle.

3. Move the rear-most triangle between 100 ft. and 500 ft. back down the road to provide ample warning (the maximum distance from the vehicle shall not exceed 500 ft.).

For the rest of the motoring public, if you see emergency triangles, flares, lights or other items, take note immediately and slow down. Be prepared to stop and drive accordingly.

If you have any questions concerning traffic related laws or issues in Minnesota, send your questions to Trp. Jesse Grabow - Minnesota State Patrol - 1000 Highway 10 West, Detroit Lakes, MN 56501-2205. (You can follow him on Twitter @MSPPPIO_NW or reach him at jesse.grabow@state.mn.us).

DNR to survey elk by airplane in northwest Minnesota

Elk counts to take place in Kittson County, Grygla elk ranges in February

The Minnesota Department of Natural Resources will conduct aerial elk surveys beginning the first week of February in the Kittson County and Grygla elk ranges in northwestern Minnesota. The surveys are conducted annually during the winter, weather permitting.

Aerial survey information is used to monitor elk populations and help the DNR make decisions about future elk harvest regulations.

"We currently have sufficient snow cover to start our elk surveys," said Doug Franke, Thief River Falls area wildlife supervisor and elk survey coordinator. "Our goal is to conduct the surveys during the first two weeks of February."

DNR pilots will fly surveys during daylight hours at an altitude of approximately 200 to 300 feet.

The DNR is also asking for help from those who seen elk recently in their area. People are encouraged to contact their local DNR office with sighting information:

- Karlstad area wildlife office, (218) 436-2427
 - Thief Lake Wildlife Management Area, (218) 222-3747
 - Thief River Falls area wildlife office, (218) 219-8587
- People can also document observations using the new elk sightings tool on the DNR website at www.mndnr.gov/elk/elk-sightings.html.

Late winter ideal time to prune trees

Pruning trees has benefits for yards, homes

Late winter is the ideal time to prune branches on trees, according to experts with the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources. When done correctly, pruning in the winter is less risky to tree health.

"Now through early March — just before trees come out of dormancy — is a great time to get outside and prune your trees," said Jennifer Teegarden, DNR cooperative forestry outreach specialist. "As trees become active in spring, they are able to quickly heal the pruning wound."

Wintertime pruning minimizes the risk that an open pruning wound could invite pests or diseases. Pruning oak trees should be avoided from April through July, when beetles that can spread oak wilt are feeding on tree sap, which is present at new wounds.

Tree pruning tips:
• Trim branches before they grow to 2 inches in diameter to minimize wound size and damage to the surrounding bark.

• Don't cut flush to the trunk. Preserving the branch collar (the area where the trunk slightly bulges around the branch) allows the wound to heal quickly and not decay.

• Use the three-cut method for larger branches to minimize damage to the bark. Information on this method can be found the pruning trees and shrubs page of the University of Minnesota Extension website.)

Pruning trees benefits yards and homes by:

• Reducing the need for a larger pruning job in the future and improving the tree's health.

• Helping trees survive storms with fewer dropped branches and less damage.

• Improving safety by removing branches that overhang or block walkways or roads.

• Maintaining the aesthetic of yards and enhancing the beauty of the tree.

More tree care tips are available on the tree planting and care page of the DNR website at mndnr.gov/treecare.

DNR grants help children get outside

DNR to offer up to $250,000 in grants for No Child Left Inside program

The Minnesota Department of Natural Resources is pleased to announce another phase of the extremely popular No Child Left Inside grants. These grants help more children cast a line, study animal tracks, hike or bike, or simply learn more about nature.

"We continue to have high interest in our outreach grant program," said Jeff Ledermann, DNR education and skills team supervisor. "Children in many communities don't have the resources or opportunities to spend quality time outdoors. These grants help boost outdoor programs and initiatives all around the state and especially in communities with limited opportunities to connect with nature."

Public entities and non-profit organizations serving youth under age 18 can apply for these No Child Left Inside grants. The minimum funding request is $5,000, with a maximum request of $25,000. Applications for the current funding phase must be received by 2 p.m. on Thursday, March 10. Projects will be selected using a competitive review process and awards will be distributed on a geographically balanced, statewide basis. Funding can be used for outdoor recreation equipment, transportation, and related natural resource education expenses.

"We will have approximately $250,000 available in this phase, about $100,000 of which we anticipate granting for fishing and hunting-focused programs," Ledermann said. "The competitive selection process will give preference to projects that propose new and innovative ways to impact new, diverse, underrepresented and underserved audiences who have limited outdoor opportunities."

The DNR will host an informational webinar at 3:30 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 17, to review grant requirements, the application process and to answer questions. Attendees must pre-register using the registration link on the "Who should apply for No Child Left Inside grants" page of the DNR's website at www.mndnr.gov/no-child-grants/who-should-apply.html. The webinar will be recorded and posted on the website for those who are unable to attend.

The 2019 Minnesota Legislature authorized the No Child Left Inside Grant program. The program has supported 59 mini grants, which have reached more than 12,000 children, and dozens of larger grants. The 2021 Minnesota Legislature appropriated $900,000 from the state's General Fund and the Heritage Enhancement Account of the Game and Fish Fund to continue this work. Additional phases will be announced later this year and in early 2023 to distribute the remaining funds available under this appropriation.

Making the most of living fences in a yard

Living fences can provide homeowners a natural way for privacy

By Bev Johnson
Master Gardener

There are times when you need some privacy in your yard. The question is what kind of fence should I put up? The first thing that comes to mind is an actual privacy fence made of wood, stone, or now, plastic. They are usually quite expensive to put up and wood fences need constant care. A living fence may be a cheaper, and often more attractive, way to go.

Using shrubs, small trees, or even perennials like grasses that change with the seasons, living fences offer varying levels of privacy. They can provide food for birds, pollinators, wild-life and habitat. Whether you want a loose screen-like wall or a solid hard-to-see through hedge, the biggest challenge you will face is to be sure the plants you choose are right for your climate and the conditions your site has to offer. It is always harder to grow anything in dense shade than in sun or part shade or part sun.

These tips come from Minneapolis landscapers, Frank Fitzgerald, Douglas Owens-Pike, and Bob Harvey from an article in the Northern Gardener.

Common lilacs make great green walls but get thin and leggy in part shade. Birch, willow trees, and hydrangeas need lots of water. It's no wonder gardeners throw up their hands and just plant arborvitae, yew, or juniper, and say the heck with it. Boring!

Lilacs are the top pick for a dense, tall hedge. Instead of the old-fashioned lilac, use a dwarf one. They are easier to control, have a fine texture, and you can shear them right after they bloom into the shape you want. Tinkerbell has pink flowers and Miss Kin has purple; mix the two together for an eye-catching or maybe eye searing, hedge. Another lilac, Miss Canada, a Chinese lilac smells great. She blooms all the way to the base and is also easily shaped.

For a more informal fence there are the flowering, small, fruit bearing trees like serviceberry (AKA June berry), chokeberry, chokecherry and viburnum. Do pick a native viburnum as they often do better over time. Downey viburnum will get 10 feet tall. Eastern wahoo is a native shrub that can be trained into a small tree. She will get about 25 feet tall and spread about 10 feet. If you don't know her, she has brown-gray bark, olive green leaves, and purple flowers that turn into an odd red seedpod and a showy fall color.

Dogwoods make good living fences. Gray dogwoods tolerate drought and shade well and tend to have a dense habit that is easier to manage than the red twigged variety. Red needs lots of water and does well in damp spaces. The grays sucker and both of them tend to spread.

If you have a dark area you want to lighten up, look for Centerglow or Dart's Gold in the Golden ninebarks. They do need quite a bit of sun to keep their color. If they are to go in a shady area, plant them closer together than if they are in a sunny spot.

Hydrangeas are a mid-sized option if you have part shade. Tardiva, Little lamb and Limelight will work well. Or layer them with a viburnum if you have the room. Do remember that hydrangeas, to do well need almost daily watering in hot weather.

Go to local nurseries to see these plants in person, as it were. You will also get good suggestions and information for your plans. Sharpen your shovel, a hedge will take a lot of hole digging.

Searching for meaning at Henning Library

This week's featured book is written by Kirk Douglas and is entitled "Climbing the Mountain, My Search for Meaning."

The inside jacket covers reads, "With the simple power and astonishing candor that made his 1988 autobiography, the Ragman's Son, a number one international bestseller, Kirk Douglas now shares his quest for spirituality and Jewish identity-and his heroic fight to overcome crippling injuries and a devastating stroke."

"On February 13, 1991, at the age of 74, Kirk Douglas, was in a helicopter crash, in which two people died and he himself sustained severe back injuries with debilitating long-term effects. As he lay in the hospital recovering, haunted by the tragedy, he kept wondering: Why had two younger men, whose lives were in front of them, died while he, who had already lived his life fully, survived? The question drove this son of a Russian-Jewish ragman to a search for his roots and on a long journey of self discovery-a quest not only for the meaning of life and his own relationship with God, but for his own identity as a Jew."

"Through the study of Torah, Kirk Douglas found a new spirituality and purpose to life. His newfound faith deeply enriched his relationship with his own children and taught him a man who had always been famously demanding and impatient to listen to others and, above all, to hear his own inner voice. Kirk Douglas not only takes the reader through his own near-death experience but tells the story of his stubborn struggle to make sense of his own life, to come to terms with the reality of death, and to answer the big questions that eventually confront us all: What is the meaning of life? Where are we here? Who is God?"

Come on up to the Henning library and check out a great biography on someone you are interested in knowing more about. We are open from 3:30-5:30 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons following the school calendar.

The door to Three Fishermen's Watering Hole opened slowly as a slight popping sound can be heard under the surface. For the regular customers the popping sound is often overlooked, while for the newest patrons of Three Fisherman's Watering Hole it is a reminder of the uniqueness of the area's first ice bar.

Weston Roy Luhnig is the 2017 Henning HOPE first baby of the year. Luhnig, who was born on Jan. 7 at Douglas County Hospital in Alexandria, Minn., is the son of Will and Katie Luhnig of rural Battle Lake.

Nominations are being sought for the 2017 Henning Wall of Fame induction. The deadline for nominations is May 16. The Henning Wall of Fame honors high school graduates from the current boundaries of school district 545. Those inducted into the wall of fame have shown outstanding achievement and involvement throughout their career and/or lifetime.

Max's Mission: Tailgate at -25 degrees—It's the "if you get lemons, make lemonade" philosophy in practice, as applied to this ultra-challenging winter. Twenty people recently had a tailgate party—complete with food and drink—at a fish house near Ottertail in 25-below-zero weather. The idea was conceived and implemented by a group called the Knights of the Square

Table, which gets together on Friday evenings to play tip boards at the Otter.

It's the time of the year when people have already done their taxes or are thinking about doing them. Bill Egan of Henning did taxes about 25 times last year and probably will do taxes at least as many times this year. No, he's not a professional tax accountant. He's a retired railroad maintenance engineer. But he does taxes on a volunteer basis for senior citizens and persons with low and fixed incomes, through the American Association for Retired Persons TCE (Tax Counseling for the Elderly) Program.

Basic rates vary in 13 different exchange classifications in Minnesota, according to the number of main telephones which a customer can call without a toll charge. In Henning, one party residence phone service will cost $4.85 per month, an increase of $.75. Two party service will cost $3.80 per month, an increase of $.60. Rural eight party-residence service will cost $4.40 per month, an increase of $.55.

Karen J. Waskosky has been named Henning High School's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for 1972. Selected on the basis of her score in a written knowledge and attitude examination administered to senior girls last Dec. 7, she will receive a specially designed award charm from General Mills, sponsor of the annual education program. Additionally, she is now eligible for state and national honors. Karen is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Waskosky of Henning.

One of the worst dust storms in many a moon blew into this community Monday from the south and the dirt mixed with the little snow that was available, the strong winds and near zero temperature made it a nasty day to be out. Businessmen, schoolmen and housewives were unanimous in saying that they were disgusted with the dust that whipped in through seemingly airtight spots. And so, a general cleaning up is in order. They also found it a difficult matter to keep themselves warm on this particularly "blue" Monday. Right now the snow is an ugly grey color to make it nice and muddy when tracked into wherever you might be tracking. As a consequence, many Henningsites have been heard of late to say: "We sure do hope we can get a fresh snow-fall to cover up this mess." Tuesday morning the temperature fell to 13 below and that evening was once more on the downward trend from a daytime reading of about zero.

We saw one of the new "peace dollars" in Henning the other day, which is not being coined in the Philadelphia mint. On the back is the figure of an eagle, standing on a mountain top. An olive branch, which is symbolic of the Washington conference lies near the eagle. On the back of the mountain shines the rays of the sun of a new era. A new head of the Goddess of Liberty, with the words "Liberty" and "In God We Trust" is found on the front of the coin.

The question often comes up as to the origin of the name "Henning." The town was named after John O. Henning, who lived and owned real estate here more than 40 years ago. He moved to Hudson, Wash., and resided there at last accounts. Mr. Henning presented the bell to the local M.E. church and it is still doing service from its tower.

We note by the Mahnomen Pioneer that a graveling truck was hitched to a snow plow and the main streets there cleaned of snow in a jiffy. It is a wonder that this simple task is not done here, for it would not only improve automobilism, but sleighing as well.

Amy Severson, one of Henning's parents, has worked with that gentlemen in the past and helped organize a night in which people were asked to wear gray in support of that family. Amy's daughter Emma Severson, Henning's lone senior on the girls basketball team did a great job of making a speech in between the girls and boys game. The Henning girls basketball team only had one game this past week, but it was a big conference game Friday night against a good Wadena-Deer Creek team that had beat the Hornets earlier in the season.

OTC then traveled to Fergus Falls on Friday for a quadrangular with Fergus Falls, Alexandria and Sartell-St. Stephen. Finally, they wrapped up their long stretch with the Park Region Conference in Sebeka on Saturday.

"Due to a couple of cancellations earlier in the year, I was looking for some opportunities to get my athletes some extra matches. Hornets edge Wolverines for ninth win in conference action

In their first game in nearly a week, Henning came out of the gates a bit slow on Friday night, but held on for a 71-56 win over Wadena-Deer Creek. The game was part of a boys-girls doubleheader that also included a win for the girls team. "After a bit of a sluggish start, we made a nice run before the half. WDC should get a lot of credit; they wouldn't go away. Even though we were a little short-handed playing without Calvin Stueve, our guys stuck with it and found a way," said head coach Randy Misegades. The Hornets led by a score of 30-18 at halftime and shot 50 percent from the field. The high percentage from the floor included going just 4-21 from beyond the 3-point line.

3. YOU MUST RESPOND TO EACH CLAIM. The Answer is your written response to the Plaintiffs' Complaint. In your Answer you must state whether you agree or disagree with each paragraph of the Complaint. If you believe the Plaintiffs should not be given everything asked for in the Complaint, you must say so in your Answer.

4. YOU WILL LOSE YOUR CASE IF YOU DO NOT SEND A WRITTEN RESPONSE TO THE COMPLAINT TO THE PERSON WHO SIGNED THIS SUMMONS. If you do not answer within 20 days, you will lose this case. You will not get to tell your side of the story, and the Court may decide against you and award the Plaintiffs everything asked for in the Complaint. If you do not want to contest the claims stated in the Complaint, you do not need to respond. A default judgment can then be entered against you for the relief requested in the Complaint.

5. LEGAL ASSISTANCE. You may wish to get legal help from a lawyer. If you do not have a lawyer, the Court Administrator may have information about places where you can get legal assistance. Even if you cannot get legal help, you must still provide a written Answer to protect your rights or you may lose the case.

6. ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION. The parties may agree to or be ordered to participate in an alternative dispute resolution process under Rule 114 of the Minnesota General Rules of Practice. You must still send your written response to the Complaint even if you expect to use alternative means of resolving this dispute.

7. THIS LAWSUIT MAY AFFECT OR BRING INTO QUESTION TITLE TO REAL PROPERTY located in Otter Tail County, Minnesota, legally described as follows:

HENNING DEFEATS WDC 71-56

The Hornets were led offensively by Mason Hammer who scored 24 points and pulled down 11 rebounds to finish with a double-double. Tanner Arndt scored 18 points to go along with 5 assists and 6 rebounds, while Tyson Misegades scored 12 points and had 6 assists. Misegades also led the team with 5 of the Hornets 6 steals on the night.

Lane Dilly finished just 1 point short of also recording a double-double as he scored 9 points to go along with 11 rebounds and 3 assists. Also scoring for the Hornets was Kale Misegades with 4 points, Riley Bode with 2 points and Carter Dilly with 2 points.

This week the sixth ranked Hornets will get a chance to avenge their only loss so far this season as they travel to fifth ranked New York Mills on Tuesday night. Henning comes into the game with a record of 16-1 overall, while NY Mills is 17-1 on the season. The Hornets are 9-1 in the Park Region Conference, while the Eagles are 9-0.

In addition to Tuesday's match up between two of the top ranked teams in the state, the Hornets will travel to Verndale on Friday night for another conference match up against the Pirates.

this effort. In a time where there is definitely disagreements and stress happening all over including in the city and area, it was once again truly amazing to see the support and the communities coming together for this family. He said it was also great to see so many Henning people showing their support for someone they've never met in person, but simply doing what they consider the "right thing" to do.

Hepola said he finds it truly an honor to teach and coach in a community that once again rallies for the cause. So thank you all for your support this evening and your overall support over the years in many situations like this. Hepola said he is very proud to be a Henning Hornet.

Now onto the actual basketball action from Friday night, which was just as special as the community support shown. With three great days of practice leading up to this game the girls really bought into Henning's game plan both offensively and defensively. They did an amazing job of playing as a team and it never hurts to hit the shots at over a 53 percent mark either. A couple games ago the Hornets got after the team as they only had 4 assists in an entire ball game. The team talked about how there was too much one-on-one play and not enough team continuity happening on the court. In this one the girls did such a great job of attacking and then finding the open teammate and then that teammate knocking down the shot as we had 17 assists on 23 made shots, which is great teamwork leading to a solid 62-30 win.

Ally Hart got Henning going with a great attack and a 3-point play right off the opening tip and a pass from Faith Fisher. Hepola said he truly believed that got the Hornets rolling for the entire evening.

Fisher hit an incredible 6 three-pointers in the first half alone to lead Henning with 18 first half points and allowed them to hold a solid 39-22 lead at half. Lily Fraki also hit two big 3-pointers in that opening half to finish with 6 points while Hart, Natalie Eckhoff and Lyvia Misegades all had 5 first half points.

In the second half the Hornets really turned up their defense as Henning held Wadena-Deer Creek to 8 total points in the half. The Hornets continued to score at a decent clip by finishing with 62 total points.

The Hornets went an incredible 13-25 from the 3-point line with Fisher hitting 6, Fraki 3, Natalie Eckhoff 2, Aaliyah Olson and Ella Missling each with 1. The girls school record for 3-pointers in a game is 7 so Fisher finished just 1 shy of that and will hopefully have another crack at it soon.

Individually, the Hornets were led by Faith Fisher with 20 points and 6 assists on a great night. Hart joined Fisher in double figures finishing with 13 points and also 5 assists. Misegades just missed double-figures with 9 points, Natalie Eckhoff had a great night off the bench with 8 points.

Misegades finished with 7 points and 8 rebounds, while Ella Missling and Aaliyah Olson rounded out the scoring with 3 points each.

Again a great overall team effort on both ends of the court in this one and something Hepola said he hopes the team can build off of as they have two tough games this upcoming week against Browerville at home on Tuesday and at New York Mills on Thursday. The win brings Henning's overall record to 12-7 and 7-4 in the Park Region Conference.

Individual stats
 Faith Fisher 20 points, 1 rebound, 6 assists, 1 steal
 Lily Fraki 9 points, 3 rebounds, 3 assists, 1 steal
 Ella Missling 3 points, 1 rebound
 Ally Hart 12 points, 3 rebounds, 5 assists
 Emma Severson 1 rebound, 1 assist
 Aaliyah Olson 3 points, 1 rebound, 1 steal
 Natalie Eckhoff 3 points, 1 rebound, 1 steal
 Lyvia Misegades 7 points, 8 rebounds, 1 assist, 1 steal
 Ava Eckhoff 1 assist

which means making weight three days in a row. That can be very brutal on the body and mind," said head coach Jason Rogers.

Thursday

The Bulldogs hosted Mahnomens-Waubun and New York Mills on Thursday night in Underwood. It was seniors night and the Bulldogs were happy to be wrestling at home for only the second time this season.

The first dual of the night found the Bulldogs facing off against the Thunderbirds of Mahnomens-Waubun. The match didn't start off the way the Bulldogs would have liked as they lost the first 5 matches of the dual and found themselves down 26-0. That is when Senior Brien Poser turned things around with a pin over Manny Fernandez to break the losing streak.

Senior Logan Schleske followed this up with a pin of his own over Lukas Geary, to pull the Bulldogs to a 26-12 score. Tommy Ehler went out at 152 lbs. and had a barn burner of a match, eventually losing 11-10, this gave the Thunderbirds a 29-12 lead. At 160 lbs., senior Jaxon Rich gained a 11-8 win over Will Olson and at 170 lbs. Gabe Hanson gained his first ever varsity pin over Kota St. Clair. This pulled the Bulldogs to a 29-21 deficit.

Unfortunately the Bulldogs were a little thin up top with injuries, leading to a few forfeits. The dual ended with a pin by Blake Geray of M-W over Kale Rich and the Thunderbirds ended up with the victory 47-21.

Next, the Bulldogs faced the Eagles of New York Mills. The dual started off good for the Bulldogs as Mason Christianson was able to gain a victory over Creed Mursu 8-2 and put the Bulldogs up 3-0.

Tayden Soma then lost a close match with Austin Geiser 7-3, tying up the score at 3-3. New York Mills then went on a three match winning streak making the score 18-3.

At 138 lbs., Poser broke the streak by defeating Brandt Malone by tech fall 21-4. This brought the score to 18-8. The Eagles were able to win the next two matches before Jaxon Rich was able to get a victory at 160 lbs. over Hunter Rust 6-5.

The Bulldogs were also able to get points from Tristan Evavold at 195 lbs. with a forfeit and at 220 lbs. as Kale Rich got the fall over Braeden Peterson. The final score ended up being 46-23 in favor of the Eagles.

"We came out a little flat against Mahnomens-Waubun and didn't wrestle all that well, but I felt like the boys really turned it around against New York Mills," said Rogers. "There was a little more fire in the bellies for this dual and I was proud of the way we wrestled."

Friday

The Bulldogs started off their night by wrestling the Alexandria Cardinals.

Like the night before, the Bulldogs came out very flat to start the night, getting pinned in the first five matches of the dual and found themselves down 30-0.

Brien Poser was able to stop the bleeding by getting a pin over Landon Arvidson in the first period, making the score 30-6. At 145 lbs. Logan Schleske had a tough match with state ranked Blaze Nelson of Alexandria and came up just a bit short losing 13-7.

The Bulldogs were able to gain victories at 160 lbs. by Jaxon Rich by fall and again at 220 lbs. with Kale Rich getting a fall. The final score ended up being 63-18 in favor of Alexandria.

The next dual on the night saw the Bulldogs facing Sartell-St. Stephen. This dual started off better for the Bulldogs as Tayden Soma was able to gain a decision over Alex Hendrickson 8-5.

Mason Christianson followed that up with a pin over Julian Morris and the Bulldogs found themselves up 9-0. The Bulldogs then lost the next four matches, all by fall to give Sartell the lead at 24-9.

Logan Schleske then got the Bulldogs back on the board by gaining a fall over Kaden Brooks, making the score 24-15. After that the Bulldogs were able to gain two more victories, as the Rich brothers came through with pins of their own. The final score ended up being Sartell-St. Stephen 54 OTC 27.

The final dual of the night saw the Bulldogs facing their neighbor in Fergus Falls.

"It is always fun to wrestle the Otters, most of the boys know each other from elementary wrestling days and they have a good time out on the mat," said Rogers.

The dual started off with a very good match as Mason Christianson faced Jacob Fronning. Fronning took a 3-2 lead into the final period and was able to secure a 8-2 victory putting the Otters up 3-0.

The Otters were able to secure pins in the next three weight classes, putting them up 21-0. At 132 lbs., fans saw one of the best matches of the night as Conner Nelson faced off against Carston Fronning. Nelson took a 2-0 lead into the second period. The two then traded pins and headed into the third period tied 7-7. Fronning was able to gain a reversal late in the match taking a 9-7 lead, Nelson then scrambled to get an escape making it 9-8. Nelson then made a last second shot and had Fronning up in the air as time expired and was not able to gain the takedown. Fronning took the win 9-8 and put the Otters up 24-0.

At 138 lbs., Poser received a forfeit to give the Bulldogs their points on the night. The other victories for the Bulldogs came at 152 lbs. as Logan Schleske gained a pin over Jeremiah Patelski and at 160 lbs. as Jaxon Rich got a pin over Lucas Oliphant. Tristan Evavold was able to receive a forfeit at 220 lbs. and Kale Rich gained a forfeit at 285 lbs. The Otters were able to secure the victory 48-30.

"Once again, I thought our boys came out a little flat in the first match of the night, but then were able to pick things up as the night went on. We were able to get some matches against opponents that we normally don't see during the season, so that was kind of fun as well," said coach Jason Rogers.

Saturday

The Bulldogs then had to get on the bus at 6 a.m. the next morning to head to Sebeka for the Park Region Conference Tournament.

"The Park Region Conference runs both a varsity and JV tournament at the same time, so there is a lot of wrestling going on in two gyms. It makes for a fun day for the whole team," said head coach Jason Rogers.

The Bulldogs ended up having two individuals make it to the finals. The first was Brien Poser at 138 lbs. Poser started off the day with a bye putting him in the semifinals against Solomon Wales of West Central. Poser and Wales have wrestled each other three times prior to this matchup with Poser winning twice and Wales winning once. All of which were close matches. This one was no different as Poser came away with an 8-5 victory.

The turning point in the match was in the second period. Poser had a 2-1 lead and both men were on their feet as Wales had a beautiful shot to get a single on Poser, as Wales was trying to secure the takedown, Poser was able to counter with a roll up and gain a takedown with two near fall points. This put Poser up 6-1. Wales was able to get a reverse and the score was 6-3.

The third period saw both men score 2 points leading to the 8-5 decision for Poser.

In the finals, Poser faced Reese Thompson from Bertha-Hewitt/Verndale/Parkers Prairie. Poser was able to secure his first Park Region Conference Tournament championship by gaining a pin in the second period.

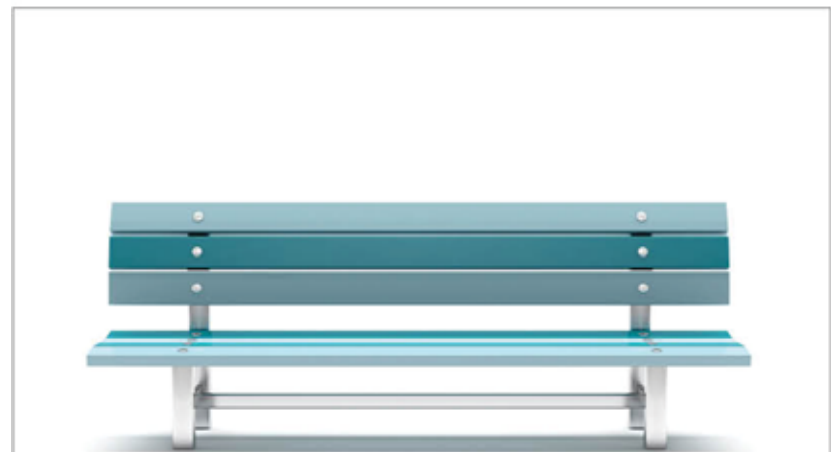

The other Bulldog to make it to the finals was Jaxon Rich at 160 lbs. Rich also had a first round bye before wrestling Hunter Rust of New York Mills in the semifinals. The two had just wrestled two nights before in Underwood with Rich gaining a 6-5 victory that night. This time Rich was able to throw Rust in the first period giving him a pin and gaining his way to the finals.

In the finals Rich met Eion Ness of United North Central. Ness is ranked fifth in the state, so Rich knew he would have his hands full. After a physical first period Rich found himself trailing 5-0. Ness chose the down position to start the second and Rich took a chance by hooking up a pinning combination called the sa-zama. Unfortunately, Ness was able to slip an arm out which caught Rich mid roll and Ness was able to gain the fall.

Other Bulldogs that were able to place were Tayden Soma at 106 lbs. with a sixth place finish, Julian Umlauf at 113 lbs. with a fifth place finish, Logan Schleske at 145 lbs. with a fifth place finish, and Kale Rich at 285 lbs. with a fifth place finish. The Bulldogs also had two JV wrestlers that finished in the top 2 of their brackets, with both Anibal Franco and Brock Resch getting second place finishes.

The Bulldogs will finish off their regular season with two triangulars this week. The first is Tuesday in Fosston at 5 p.m. as they face Fosston/Bagley and Park Rapids. The other will be Thursday at Minnewaska as they face both Minnewaska and Barnesville also starting at 5 p.m.
